THE BLOODY SIXTH.

There was a meeting of the re-united Republican Club of the west end of the Sixth Ward in George W. Kraft's saloon, corner of Twenty-fourth and Lincoln streets, last night, for the purpose of hearing the report of the committee appointed at a former meeting to select a new name for the club to succeed old Culberton. It was generally understood that the meeting would be decidedly anti-Culberton, but the events that attended it took belief with even sanguine of their friends.

The report of the committee, a three-sentence affair of original English, was read. It set forth that the committee, after careful deliberation, deliberation though they were, in consideration of past faithful representation of the interests of the Sixth Ward by the City Council, unanimously recommended the name of Edward F. Culberton, the present Alderman.

Mr. Kraft, proprietor of the saloon in which the meeting was held, was Chairman of the committee, and announced the report, after which he declared the question was now open for discussion of the meeting. When the Chairman asked for the vote on the report he was greeted with a regular salvoes of "Ayes," "Yes" and "Yeps," but when the nays were asked only one response was made, which was quickly suppressed or by pats of the others from the group.

Mr. Kraft's action was a "fizzle" to use the expression of one of the disgusted participants in the meeting. He got up on the platform and endeavored to explain, but to explain Culberton is anything but to explain things so as to stay Culberton forward for the Democratic nomination for Alderman. When Kraft had finished a committee was appointed to wait upon Mr. Culberton and inform him of the "will" subsequent. When the committee went out Mr. Kraft announced the meeting would adjourn sine die, but when Kraft and others had left the saloon they found the door locked on the inside and could not get in. Then they went around to the front door and found it locked, too. Then they went around to the back door and found it locked, too

Maggie Carrity, the 12-year-old daughter of Catherine Carrity who keeps a saloon at No. 54 West Washington street, took a dose of Paris green which she mistook for sulphur and molasses. The child died.

George H. Harvey left his home and saloon in front of his office, No. 170 La Salle street, while he went to Saturday evening prayer-meeting, and found that some one had broken open the safe and stolen $300.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Brunner, optician, Sherman Building, was as follows: 6 a. m., 20°; 9 a. m., 27°; 12 m., 30°; 3 p. m., 30°; 6 p. m., 30°; 9 p. m., 27°; 12 m., 25°; 3 a. m., 23°; 6 a. m., 23°. Barometer—6 a. m., 29.21; 3 p. m., 29.27.

Police-Officer George Elmyer was on duty at the intersection of Clark and Madison avenues, when he was knocked down by one of the fleet runners and drawn in front of a Clybourn avenue car. He was dragged along the track quite a distance, and one of his legs was badly crushed.

A young man named Harry Stephenson, who lives at No. 14 Washington street, is at home in bed with a broken leg, the result of his own carelessness. He was trying that he was able to "stand off" the mailcart during all that time. The mailcart, whose name is H. S. Stevens, says that Stephenson got the worst of the collision, and he has had the young man arrested, the 107 being assessed for that purpose.

The overwhelming case of James Wilson and Josephine Stern was heard yesterday by United States Commissioner Hoyne. Wilson was arrested for trying to pass a counterfeit silver dollar in a North Side saloon, and one of the dollars was found concealed in the hat of the Stern woman, who had been arrested for larceny. Both were held to bail, $ 500 and have appointed March 25 for the examination.

The bride of Mr. Tolman is lately deceased.

Dr. Lyle McKinly, a veterinary surgeon, with his office and residence at No. 45 South Sangamon street, was found dead in his bed in a room in the rear portion of the premises. This will bring to an end to the old disputation between the Shakespeareans and Shakespeareans, which has been going on for a long time, and which has been the cause of much bad blood between the Shakespeareans and Shakespeareans.

A policeman's suitability should a good deal of muscle and but amazing presence of mind. The officer had just made a report to Inspector Hunt in reference to Wm. Shaffer arrest, and this story came to an end that his wife was dragging back and after a few seconds got on her. The operation of the officer's neighborhood and promptly ceased to be angry. All the while spectators in the station house were shouting advice for the officer to keep something about the prisoner's head.
